Most of the statistics tabulated under the direction of Auditor C. Lee Moore for use in the grand jury investigations into the tax returns, were sent to the printer yesterday. The work is nearly complete, and with the sent out to the courts before long.

The statements will contain just the information the grand juries will need—not only the average valuation on personal property in the county or city affected, but also comparative tables indicating the wide variation in valuations throughout the State. Incomes receive attention.

A commissioner of the revenue who wrote Auditor Moore asking why he had not been paid his fees for this year's books has been written to with the information that commissions on personal property books will no be paid until after the courts have considered those books. There will probably became changes.

For years it had been supposed that Captain Imboden was dead, and it Captain Imboden with Captain T. B. McDowell and Lieutenant Richard Glazebrook. The visitor asked Lieutenant Glazebrook if he remembered Captain Imboden.

T should think I do." was the response. "I served under him for three years. He committed suicide in Honduras."

"What?" shrieked the stranger. "He was the livest corpse in Philadelphia three weeks ago I ever saw."

So it came about that his whereabouts was found. He is in Bristol, Va. sked for his photograph, he promised a copy at an early day.

Captain Imboden is seventy-two years old. He graduated from the Virginia Military Institute in 1869 and commanded a company throughout the War Between the States. He came to Richmond and engaged in business here. In March, 1872, he was elected captain of the Blues and served until April, 1875. Later he went to Honduras on a mining venture. While there he became interested in one of the successive revolutions and suffered a wound which partly disabled one of his arms. DINNER TO MR. MILLS

United States Internal Revenue Collector, and Deputy C. M. Dozier, returned yesterday from the annual convention of the Internal Revenue Association, held in Buffalo.

For the third consecutive time, Mr. Meany was chosen as one of the six members of the executive committee of the association, an honor which has seldom been conferred in the past. Further distinction is added to Mr. Meany's re-election by the fact that he is the only representative on the committee from the South.

Resolutions were passed by the convention, to be presented to Congress, calling attention to the poor compensation which revenue officers received in return for their services and asking for remedial legislation. Other resolutions in regard to the Civil Service retirement act also received favorable action.

A farewell dinner, at which were present the members of the Twenty-Pour-Houra-Day Club and invited guests, was given at the Y. M. C. A. last night to W. P. Mills, newly selected as a representative of the Richmond Young Men's Christian Association in the foreign field. Mr. Mills work with his previous experience in the Orient, and his record as a Cecil Rhoades scholar, will sail from San Francisco for his new work on September 27. He will be accompanied by his wife.

The program included an information of the foreign work committee of the Kichmond Y. M. C. A. "The Association in Seoul," by F. M. Brockman, for seven years representative of the Y. M. C. A. In Korea, and Mr. Mill's own address.
